Coach Don Johnson Inducted to UCLA’s Athletics Hall of Fame

Cypress College’s first basketball coach was one of eight honored by the Bruins last weekend.

Retired basketball coach Don Johnson — for whom Cypress College’s primary court is named — was inducted into the UCLA Athletics Hall of Fame last week.

“I’ve always been grateful for my John Wooden experience,” Johnson said by phone. “I’m pretty sure I don’t belong along side all those UCLA legends now in the hall of fame. It’s a dream I never dreamed — and it’s very humbling. I don’t believe I belong, but I have to accept it.”

At the university, Johnson played for legendary coach John Wooden in 1951 and 1952, and was a consensus All-American and an all-conference honoree. During his playing career, Johnson helped lead the Bruins to the 1951 Pacific Coast Conference Southern Division Title and the 1952 PCC Championships.

As the college’s first men’s basketball coach, Johnson guided the Chargers to state titles in 1977 and 1980, and won seven conference titles. He compiled more victories than any other coach in California Community College men’s basketball history, and is an inductee in the Orange County Sports Hall of Fame.

Johnson was inducted to the UCLA Athletics Hall of Fame in an invitation-only ceremony on campus on Friday, October 11. He and the full Class of 2013 were also recognized at halftime of the UCLA football game vs. U.C. Berkeley on Saturday, October 12.

Outreach Events Produce Impressive Results

A result of re-structuring Cypress College's High School Senior Day last spring was the ability to follow up with the students who participated in the event. Institutional Research, Student Support Services, Counseling and Student Development, Student Activities, and the Public Information Office teamed to collect data and communicate with the students who attended the Senior Day and Parent Night outreach events.

Philip Dykstra compared student participation with the submission of admissions applications to identify those who both attended and became Cypress College students.

More than half of those who attended Parent Night applied for admission to Cypress College.

During the evacuation, teams from Maintenance and Operations went through procedures to verify the integrity of the campus infrastructure.

Learn more about your own style and how to communicate effectively with others through a Real Colors workshop!

Why attend this workshop? Every workplace experiences situations in which employees don't work as a team. Let’s face it: personal conflicts and petty squabbles can create a negative work environment. Improving interpersonal communication skills sets the foundation for effective teamwork and better morale in the workplace.

Imagine having the ability to clearly communicate your thoughts and ideas to fellow employees, students, friends and family. Picture yourself having a unique level of insight into the things that motivate you and others — in other words, the ability to consistently “speak in the language of the listener and listen in the language of the speaker.” That’s what the Real Colors system enables you to do.

Attending a Real Colors workshop is a fun way to learn meaningful, lasting methods to communicate at work and at home. You’ll gain a completely new perspective on yourself and the things that are most important to you. As you learn more about the Colors, you’ll instinctively recognize characteristics of people you know, and their personality or “Color.” This knowledge gives you valuable insight into what is most important to them, why they may react to situations differently than others, and how you can communicate with them in the most effective way.

Come to the Real Colors Workshop and solve the communications puzzle!

If you wish to attend one of the workshops, please register on the District-wide Staff Development Calendar, under the Employee tab in myGateway. All workshop materials will be provided at no cost to each participant, therefore you will be expected to attend if you register for the workshop.

Managers and supervisors are strongly encouraged to attend with their employees.
CYPRESS COLLEGE VETERANS DEPARTMENT AND ORANGE COUNTY MENTAL HEALTH SERVICES DROP ZONE PRESENT:

Lioness presents the untold story of the first group of women soldiers in US history to be sent into direct ground combat, in violation of official policy. Told through intimate accounts, journal excerpts, archive footage, as well as interviews with military commanders, the film follows five women who served together for a year in Iraq. With captivating detail, this probing documentary reveals the unexpected course of events that began with using US women soldiers to defuse tensions with local civilians, but resulted in the women’s fighting in some of the bloodiest counter-insurgency battles of the war. Together the women’s candid narratives and scenes from their lives back home form a portrait of the emotional and psychological effects of war from a female point of view. Lioness is the first film to bridge the gap between perception and reality of the role women in the military are playing in Iraq.
