DEC Moves to Anaheim

► The main District office has relocated to Anaheim and gained new phone numbers.

The drive to District just got considerably shorter. Nearly all district-level operations of the North Orange County Community College District have been relocated to Anaheim.

It was just 16 months ago that the District purchased the former Martin Luther Hospital. The building is located off of the 91 Freeway at Euclid Street, at 1830 W. Romneya.

With the move comes a whole new set of phone numbers for District employees. All should be available by simply dialing the five-digit extension from any campus phone. The complete phone list is available in the online version of @Cypress.

Information Services moved into the renovated facility last month, while remaining District services — including Production and the Warehouse, currently located in La Habra — are expected to move in later this year. The NOCCCD Board of Trustees will also make the move at a later date, as their meetings will continue to be held in Fullerton at the DEC Board Room until November.

Meet Newly Tenured Faculty, New Managers on Wednesday

Dr. Lewis will host a reception to honor newly tenured faculty and new managers who have joined Cypress College since last fall on Wednesday. It will be held from 2-4 p.m. in Culinary Arts. The program begins at 3 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

The newly tenured faculty are: Jeannie Blilie, Health Science; Michael Brydges, Language Arts; Carol Mattson, Counseling; Armando Mendoza, Social Science; Margaret Mohr, Physical Education; Marty Orozco, Vocational Education; Bill Pinkham, Physical Education; Jessica Puma, Language Arts; Adel Rajab, Science/Engineering/Math; Karen Watson, Science/Engineering/Math; and Kim Wise, Language Arts.

New managers are: Heather Brown, director of Institutional Research; Kaleta Brown, dean of Fine Arts; Steve Donley, dean of Vocational Education and Economic Development; Juliet Falce-Robinson, dean of Language Arts and the Library; and Darlene Fishman, director of Nursing. 🖱

CHARGERS

The Cypress College women's water polo team, off to a 3-1 start for coach P.R. Roberts, is ranked No. 14 in the state. Sophomore Melanie Craig is fourth in the state in steals (12) and first-year goalie Emily Craig is tied for seventh in saves (19).

Tony Jones, faculty member in Automotive Technology, was selected as I-CAR South Pacific Region's Instructor of the Year. I-CAR is an international, not-for-profit training organization. All I-CAR activities and resources focus on helping the industry achieve a high level of technical training.

The Board approved the retirements of Bob Azen (Biology instructor) and Wayne Freiman (Air Conditioning and Refrigeration instructor) and hired Rosemary Diesenbruch, accounting technician, Lee Ann Riede, administrative secretary in the Foundation, and Michael Thompson, records-admission technician in A&R.

Puente Program Expanding

The Puente Program is now serving its seventh class of university-preparation students with expanded support for participants and a few changes in the internal structure.

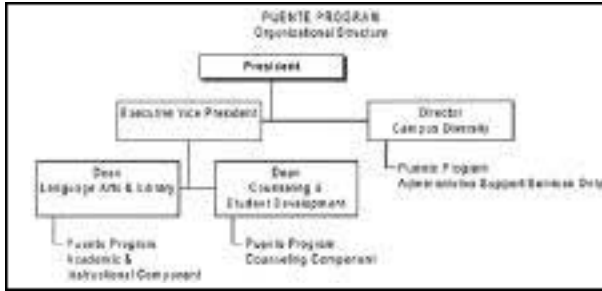

There is a new administrative structure for Puente. The instructional component of the program still reports to the dean of Language Arts and the Library, and the counseling component reports to the dean of Counseling and Student Development. Administrative support services are now handled under the supervision of the director of Campus Diversity.

That change comes as the program is expanding.

Randa Wahbe has joined Puente as the English instructor, because Mary Forman is participating in the Semester Abroad Program.

Puente has also added a "Mentor Council" — a group of Cypress College Puente Program graduates who provide guidance to current students. The "Mentor Council" includes Luis Valencia, who inspired those in attendance at Opening Day with his heartfelt testimonial. A number of campus employees and community members already serve as mentors for the program as well.

Anyone interested in becoming a mentor should contact Therese Mosqueda-Ponce at ext. 47180.

Mentoring is one of four components of the Puente Program. The others are: English instruction, counseling and cultural activities.

Puente's mission is to assist students in transferring to universities. The Puente Program is a statewide transfer program open to all students. It is especially beneficial for first-generation college students who need assistance in understanding the requirements of academic life and in learning about the many resources that are available.

Cypress College Remembers 9/11 Attacks

The campus community came together to remember victims of the September 11 terrorist attacks on America on the one-year anniversary of the horrific events.

Wednesday's ceremony included a release of balloons by those enrolled in the Campus Children's Center, speeches by Dr. Lewis and Cypress Mayor Lydia Sondhi, voter registration, ringing of the bells, and the opportunity to send a message to members of the Fire Department of New York.

Visit the Web site for more photos and event details. The text of Dr. Lewis' remarks and information about events at other community colleges are part of the @Cypress bonus online material.

'Behind Closed Doors' Faculty Exhibit in Gallery

"Behind Closed Doors — A Faculty Exhibition" officially opened in the Fine Arts Gallery with a reception last Thursday evening. It runs through September 26.

The exhibition features the creations of faculty artists in the Cypress College Visual Arts Department. They worked in a variety of media and expressed themselves with a rich mix of attitudes and techniques.

Faculty artists include: John Ahr,

For information, call ext. 47137.

BRIEFLY

As part of the accreditation process by The National League for Nursing Accrediting Commission, the Nursing Program is required to have an open period for community comment about the program. A forum has been scheduled from 4:30-5:30 p.m. on September 24 in HS-214. Details are available on the Nursing Web site.

It's a first: all faculty members submitted summer grades on time to the Admissions and Records Office.

That's especially significant in the Banner Era since grades are made available to students almost immediately after they're submitted and reviewed by A&R staff.

Kudos to everyone for a job well done.

Faculty are invited to attend a flex workshop as part of the Learning-Centered Instruction Workshop Series, a series of three workshops for a total of 10 hours.

Session I: Teaching Styles & Learning Preferences will be held on Friday, in HUM-131, from 12:30-3:30 p.m.

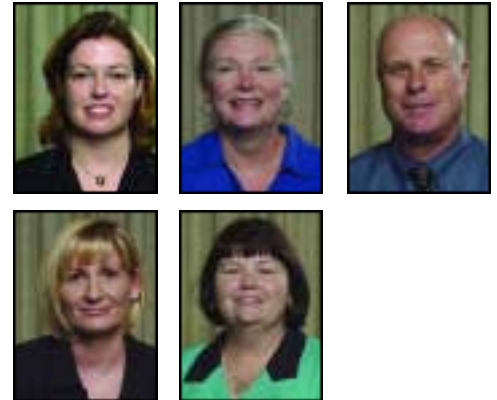

For more info, call ext. 47326 or e-mail staffdev@CypressCollege.edu.

Subscribe to the e-version of @Cypress, by sending an e-mail to mposner@CypressCollege.edu. Put "@Cypress Online" in the subject line. Also be sure to include your name and work area in the body of the e-mail message.

The newly tenured faculty are: Jeannie Blilie, Health Science (not pictured); Michael Brydges, Language Arts; Carol Mattson, Counseling; Armando Mendoza, Social Science; Margaret Mohr, Physical Education; Marty Orozco, Vocational Education; Bill Pinkham, Physical Education; Jessica Puma, Language Arts; Adel Rajab, Science/Engineering/Math; Karen Watson, Science/Engineering/Math; and Kim Wise, Language Arts.

New managers are: Heather Brown, director of Institutional Research; Kaleta Brown, dean of Fine Arts; Steve Donley, dean of Vocational Education and Economic Development; Juliet Falce-Robinson, dean of Language Arts and the Library; and Darlene Fishman, director of Nursing Diane Henry, dean of Physical Education and the Athletic Director at Cypress College, is thrilled to have work underway on the new tennis center. Completion of the facility will allow Cypress College to re-instate its men's and women's tennis teams in January after a two-year hiatus.

DAY OF REMEMBRANCE

September 11, 2002

President's Remarks

Dr. Margie Lewis

Cypress College

Thank you to the Associated Students and their advisor Paul Bottiaux, for organizing the program for this morning's event, and thanks also to Campus Diversity Officer George Beloz for his assistance.

But how much I wish their efforts hadn't been necessary. How much we wish that there were no need for this event. How much we wish that September 11 were an ordinary day like September 10 or September 12.

9/11 or 9-1-1 used to be thought of as the number to call when there was an emergency and we needed help. Now when we say 9/11, we are reminded of a day when the need for help and assistance was greater than we could ever have imagined prior to the attacks on the World Trade Center and the Pentagon.

If only there were no reason for us to gather together today.

These feelings reflect one of the stages of grief that psychiatrist Elisabeth Kubler-Ross wrote about so powerfully in her book On Death and Dying. Denying the reality of death or of an event as horrible as this terrorist attack is a common reaction.

How many times a year ago did we think or say, "I can't believe this is happening." We simply were not prepared to accept such a tragedy, such a senseless loss of life, such an attack on innocent people and indeed on our country. We watched the pictures on television; we heard from the people who survived the attacks; we read the news articles; we listened to the governmental leaders; and still we said, "I can't believe this is happening."

After experiencing denial, we often move to anger in our reaction to death. And certainly we have seen anger in response to the attacks. This anger is justified and appropriate, but unfortunately in some cases it has been directed against the wrong people. A recent report published by the Orange County Human Relations Commission documented a significant increase last year in hate crimes against people who were, or appeared to be, of Middle Eastern descent. This is wrong.

Our country is founded on the principle that people are innocent until proven guilty, and we must constantly fight against the tendency to judge people by the color of their skin, by the way they dress, by the language they speak, and by the religion they practice.

Another common reaction to death is depression and a withdrawal from normal activities. Many of us have experienced some of these feelings this past year—a sense of hopelessness, perhaps, or a feeling of, "What's the use?" The forces of evil in the world have seemed so overwhelming that we pull back; we stop trying to make a difference in our own lives and the lives of others. We retreat into the familiar and safe; we reach out to family and close friends; we stay close to home.

Finally, if we follow the pattern of grieving as described by Kubler-Ross, we can eventually reach the stage of acceptance. But I don't believe that as a people we are there yet. The pain is still too raw, too close.

As I listened this morning to the memorial service being conducted at the World Trade Center, I heard the names of the dead being read—name after name after name. So many people, so much pain.

But services such as that conducted in New York and events across the country today, including our program here at the college, do help us to move forward. The denial, anger, and depression are still with us, but for some of us, maybe many of us, we know that somehow the wounds must heal even though the scar will remain forever.

Our program today helps us move toward healing at the same time that we honor those who died.

It also gives us an opportunity to remember that even though September 11 will go down as one of the darkest days in American history, it was also a day when we saw extraordinary courage on the part of firefighters, police officers, and others who struggled desperately to save people's lives, including the brave passengers and crew of United Flight 93 who prevented that plane from attacking a target in Washington.

September 11 was a day when strangers in our country and all over the world reached out to each other. Among the most moving accounts I have read recently were letters in the Los Angeles Times travel section written by people who were traveling and away from home on September 11. These writers talked about the incredible kindness that they experienced—not only expressions of sympathy but invitations to stay in people's homes, foreign flags at half mast, and signs in other countries saying, "Today we are all Americans."

Finally, this has been a time of patriotism and pride. It's a sad comment that we sometimes don't appreciate what we have until it is attacked, but that is often true. So everywhere we looked, we saw American flags. People who perhaps had never before thought much about what it meant to be an American suddenly realized that this was their home, their country, and that fact had meaning in their lives.

We come together today with great sadness but also with thankfulness that we are part of a community—a campus community—where we can live and learn together and where we have the right to express our opinions and beliefs without fear of reprisal. We can also be thankful that we live in a larger community—a national community—the United States of America, the land of the free and the home of the brave.

CALIFORNIA'S COMMUNITY COLLEGES REMEMBER SEPTEMBER 11, 2001

Students, faculty and staff at California's community colleges all over the state will hold ceremonies to commemorate the events of September 11, 2001. The following is a list of some of the campus events planned for September 11, 2002:

Copper Mountain College – “A Day for Reflection and Remembrance” - Students, faculty, and staff are invited to share their thoughts and reflections on two banners, gathering from 9:30 to 10 a.m. in the Phase I Courtyard. Participants are also invited to contribute to a time capsule that will be buried on campus and reopened on the twentieth anniversary of September 11, 2001.

Cypress College – The campus bell tower will ring at 10:10 a.m. followed by a moment of silence. Ceremonies will be held at the campus pond. An open microphone forum begins at 10:20 a.m. and continues to 11:50 a.m. At noon, City of Cypress Mayor Lydia Sondhi will speak followed by President Margie Lewis. At the beginning of the ceremony, children from the day care center will release balloons with messages and reply cards.

College of the Desert – Two observances are planned. A noon event at the Fountain of Knowledge in front of Hilb Student Center will include Taps, remarks by college and student leaders, a minute of silence, and a dramatic reading. Students will be distributing red, white, and blue ribbons. An evening ceremony will begin at 6:50 p.m. with a choir composed of local EMTs leading the singing of God Bless America.

Folsom Lake College – “Week of Remembrance” - Activities will include a Wall of Remembrance available to the college community on which to write messages at each of the college sites. Ceremonies on September 11 will begin at 8:30 a.m. at the flagpoles at the college and its centers. At 8:46 a.m., a moment of silence will be observed campus-wide. At 1:00 p.m. there will be an open forum in the Community Room. At 6:30 p.m. there will be a candlelight vigil at each of the college sites.

Fresno City College – “Day of Remembrance Ceremony” - Activities will be held at the Veterans Peace Memorial at noon. The ceremony will feature the unveiling of a granite bench in honor of the September 11 victims. Three wreaths will be laid representing firefighters, police, and the military. The ceremony begins at noon.

Fullerton College – “Reaffirmation of Freedom” will be held at noon. Fullerton Mayor Don Bankhead and Fullerton College President Michael J. Viera will join community and college speakers. At 1:00 p.m. the Eagle Spirit Singers, Native American drummers and flutists, will perform memorial songs and a native prayer in front of the Cadena Center. The Eagle Spirit Singers will perform again at 6:30 p.m.

Glendale College – The Associated Students of Glendale College will host a program in the central plaza at noon. Names of all of the victims have been written on banners that will hang from footbridges and balconies. Speakers will include a representative of the Los Angeles Fire Department that volunteered at Ground Zero in New York City.

Las Positas College – “A Time of Reflection” will be a community ceremony at noon in front of the library. A fire academy display will include ladders and other items representing the twin towers and New York City. There will be a Wall of Hope and Peace for all to share thoughts. A fire bell will ring 9 times; pause and then ring 11 times, followed by Taps.

Long Beach City College – “United in Memory” will be held in the college auditorium in the evening. Guest speakers include Corey Gammel, coordinator of the 9-11 Memorial Quilt Project, and 21-year FDNY veteran Raymond Seely. In addition, the Associated Student Body organization will host an all-day Alternative Perspectives open mike in the College Center.

Los Angeles Valley College – A ceremony will be held in Monarch Square at 11:00 a.m. to include a welcome by ASU Treasurer Karapet Torossian and by Dr. Tyree Wieder, LAVC president. A distribution of American flags will take place and there will be a moment of silence, a period of discussion, and closing remarks by Samuel Kbushyan, ASU president.

College of Marin – The College is participating in the “Rolling Requiem.” Mozart’s Requiem is being performed at 8:46 a.m. in each time zone starting at the International Dateline. The College of Marin Chorus will perform in the Fine Arts Theater. Also, Educators for Social Responsibility will host a conversation circle all day in Fusselman Hall.

Mendocino College – “Wall of Remembrance” will be displayed on the Ukiah campus with notes from students and staff. The college flag will be lowered to half-mast outside MacMillan Hall at 9:00 a.m. with the singing of the national anthem. There will be a noon ceremony at the Peace Tree including a Peace Prayer by Native American students and at 2:00 p.m. there will be an Open Forum in the CVPA Theater.

Miramar College – “Miramar College Remembers,” including a candlelight vigil will be held at 11:45 a.m. and again at 6 p.m. at the S-100 Patio. Activities include the Patriotism through the Eyes of Children display from the Child Development Center, the Flags Across the Nation display, and comments from President Patricia A. Keir. There will be a moment of silence across campus at noon and on-going coverage of the first anniversary in the Library Conference Room from 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m.

Mt. San Antonio College – “In Memoriam 9/11 – A Concert Collage” - The Mt. SAC Music Department will perform special musical reflections about September 11 in the Music Recital Hall at 12:30 p.m. There will also be an evening Commemoration and Candlelight Vigil in the Social Sciences Quad beginning at 6:15 p.m.

Orange Coast College – “Circle of Remembrance” - The ceremony begins at noon in the OCC quad. Student Body President Femia Scarfone and OCC President Gene Farrell will deliver short speeches. While a bugler performs, everyone in attendance will join hands to create a huge “Circle of Remembrance.”

Palo Verde College- a ceremony will be held in front of the John O. Crain College Services Building at 11:00 a.m. President James Hottois will be the featured speaker and ASB President Sam Burton is master of ceremonies.

Reedley College – a memorial ceremony will be held in the Quad at noon and will include musical selections on bagpipe by Reedley College instructor Clark Skogsberg, short presentations by students and community members, and a tree planting ceremony.

Rio Hondo College – “Memorial Wall” will be created in the Upper Quad from Sept. 9 –11 where the college community can post their thoughts. Ceremonies on September 11 begin at 11:45 a.m. and at 5 p.m. The Board of Trustees will join the evening event.

San Bernardino Valley College – “Patriot Day” - The college community is invited to assemble at the Auditorium Clocktower for a moment of silence followed by the singing of “God Bless America” and ringing of the carillon chimes. A Perspectives Forum will be held from noon to 1:00 p.m. in LA100 that will include speakers on the Many Faces of 9/11.

San Diego City College – “Moment of Silence” - The ceremony will be held at the City College Flagpole at 8:46 a.m. for the college community. After the ceremony President Terrence Burgess will lead a walk to the Peace Café to sign the Peace Wall in the Student Union/Cafeteria. The college community is invited to add thoughts, sentiments, poetry, artwork, and photography to the wall throughout the day.

San Joaquin Delta College – “In Memory of 9-11” - Activities are planned for the entire week. The college community will be making red, white, or blue Origami cranes, one for each victim or survivor with a goal of 3,000 cranes that will be displayed in Danner Hall. On Wednesday there will be a ceremony in the quad at 8:45 a.m. that will include a reflection by President Raul Rodriguez, an honor guard presentation of the flag, Taps, and a moment of silence. At 11:00 a.m. A Truly American Tradition – Apple Pie will be served to all in the quad.

Sierra College – “Day of Remembrance” will be held at the Dietrich Theatre Outdoor Fountain from 12:00 to 1:30 p.m. The ceremony will include the Del Oro High School Marching Band and Honor Guard, student poetry readings, and college and community speakers. The Ridley Gallery will present the Nine Eleven student art display.

Solano College – “United We Stand for Peace and Freedom” - From sunrise the flag will be flown at half-mast. From 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. a sanctuary area is available in the Peace Garden (President’s Rose Garden) for quiet tribute, reflection, prayer, and remembrance. At 8:46 a.m. there will be a moment of silence across campus. Activities will include a lecture on Religion and Terrorism at 10:00 a.m. and at noon the fire siren will be sounded to bring the campus community together in the quad for music and speeches.

Southwestern College – “Let Freedom Ring” - Sponsored by the Associated Student Organization, the ceremony begins with bells ringing from the Bell Tower at the time of each of the four airplane crashes. The SWC Choir will hold a ceremony in the Student Center Amphitheater from 11:00 a.m. to noon that will also feature student, faculty, and college community speakers.

Yuba College – At 10:05 a.m. a bell will ring across campus signifying the time the south tower of the World Trade Center collapsed followed by a moment of silence on campus as the Fire and Administration of Justice Academies stand at attention and march to the flagpole. At 10:10 a.m. a student speaker will read from a Moment of Silence script at the flagpole in front of the college. In Memoriam: September 11, 2001, a one-hour documentary will be shown on televisions on campus.

September 9th, 2002

The nursing program is going to have it's second site visit from the National League of Nursing Accrediting Commission (NLNAC) on September 24th - 26th. Site visitors will be attending classes, both academic and clinical.

There will be an open meeting for members of the community to comment on the nursing program and meet with the site visit evaluators from the NLNAC at 4:30 - 5:30pm on September 24th in room 214 of the Health Science building.

<http://CypressCollege.edu/healthscience/rn/rnannounce.htm>

You are invited to attend a flex workshop next Friday, September 20. This workshop is part of the Learning-Centered Instruction Workshop Series, a series of three workshops for a total of 10 hours.

Session 1: Teaching Styles & Learning Preferences from 12:30 pm to 3:30 pm in HUM-131

Please download, complete, and return the Keirseley Temperament Sorter, which is attached to this e-mail, before you attend the workshop. Print and return the completed Keirseley Inventory by Wednesday, September 18 to the Cypress College Staff Development Office.

Session 2: Motivating, Engaging, and Retaining the Adult Learner on Friday, October 11, from 12:30 pm to 3:30 pm in the Cypress College Culinary Arts Dining Room

Session 3: Dealing with the Difficult, Disruptive Student on Friday, November 1, from 12:30 pm to 3:30 pm in the Fullerton College Staff Dining Room

Those wishing to complete a project for this workshop series will be asked to remain for 30 minutes after the first and third session to fulfill the 10 hours for equivalent credit or a certificate.

EQUIVALENT UNIT CREDIT: Full-time faculty can earn Π equivalent unit credit toward advancement on the NOCCCD pay scale for attending all 10 session hours of one workshop series and completing a related project. Refer to the United Faculty contract for the number of units that may be earned in one year.

CERTIFICATE OF COMPLETION: Adjunct faculty can earn a certificate of completion for each workshop series by attending all ten session hours and completing a related project.

As the new accreditation process is developed with its emphasis on student learning outcomes, we as instructors will be asked, "What do we know about our students' learning, and how do we know it?" Come join us for an exploration of the learning process.
