Development Opportunities for Faculty Members and Students

► Application deadlines are fast approaching for development opportunities for community college faculty and students.

Professional development opportunities for community college faculty are being offered by the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH). The 2005 Summer Seminars and Institutes include a series of summer study events offered in collaboration with leading scholars and focused on topics central to undergraduate teaching in the humanities. Instructors selected for the institutes receive a fixed stipend of $3,000-$4,200, depending on length of the institute. Deadline for application is March 1. For general information, visit sem-inst@neh.gov or call (202) 606-8463.

New from NEH this year are Landmarks of American History Workshops, specifically intended for community college faculty. The workshops will give participants a chance to study on-site at various historical landmarks — from “Remembering the Alamo” to “Economies and Cultures in the Blue Ridge Mountains.” Participants selected receive a $500 stipend and supplements will be provided to those traveling long distances. The workshops are open to both full-time and adjunct faculty. For application and workshop descriptions, see a list of specific workshops and contacts at www.aacc.nche.edu. For general information, contact Michael Poliakoff, Director, Division of Education Programs, 1100 Pennsylvania Ave., NW, Washington, D.C., 20506. The application deadline is March 15.

American University’s Center for North American Studies and founder, Robert A. Pastor, vice president of International Affairs at American University, have announced the third annual “Discovering North America” Summer Institute 2005. This six-week institute for undergraduate (includes community colleges) and graduate students and faculty in the U.S., Mexico, and Canada will take place at American University from June 6 to July 15. Students will attend a series of lectures and seminars and will complete internships on work related to North America. Students are encouraged to apply to secure one of the highly competitive Washington, D.C. area internships. For more information and to apply, please refer students to the Web site located at <http://www.american.edu/ia/cnas/summer/>.

The Japan Studies Association (JSA) will be conducting a special three-week seminar this summer funded by the Freeman Foundation. The program is designed for faculty who have no prior training or

Due to construction and remodeling, the library is not offering orientations this semester. In lieu of a library visit, a CD-ROM with video lectures and step-by-step tutorials for faculty to use in their classrooms has been created. Copies of the CD-ROM are available for checkout from the library circulation desk. A copy of the CD-ROM has also been sent to each division office manager. If you have any additional questions, please contact Peggy Austin at ext. 47066 or via email at paustin@cypresscollege.edu.

Opening Reception for "Illustrious" Art Exhibit on February 2

The Fine Arts Gallery is pleased to present "Illustrious," a group exhibition of paintings, drawings, and sculpture by working illustrators. The exhibition features eighteen illustrators from throughout the United States. Illustrators include George Abe, Robert Bellm, Thomas Baxa, Sean Christopher, Raúl Colón, Tamara Guion, Adam James, James Jean, Don Kilpatrick, Cindy Kim, Janice Lowery, Laurel Long, Bryan Mandronico, Jeff Soto, Alice Tippit, Edwin Ushiro, Brad Weinman and Patrick Williams.

"Illustrious" not only focuses on current trends in contemporary illustration, as seen in Juxtapose Magazine, but also encompasses the vast range of illustration published today. This all-encompassing exhibition features work ranging from Thomas Baxa's beautifully rendered Dungeons and Dragon's style oils to Patrick William's boldly whimsical characters to Janice Lawry's Joseph Cornell-style assemblages. Illustrious demonstrates that the illustrator's practice is open to limitless content and style.

An opening reception for the exhibition will be held on Wednesday, February 2, from 7 to 9 p.m., in the Art Gallery. "Illustrious" will be on exhibit through February 28. Gallery hours are as follows: Monday-Thursday 10 a.m.-2 p.m.; Tuesday-Wednesday, 6-8 p.m.; Friday, by appointment only.

For more information, please contact Gallery Director Paul Paiement at ext. 47134.

Blueprint

A report on Cypress College's Construction Projects

Anyone who works near the Library/Administration Building knows that the rain didn't seem to slow work on the new elevator. Jack hammering was readily apparent on Wednesday. The new elevator starts on the ground level outside the building. However, because of the overhang, it will actually come inside the existing building on the third and fourth floors. Thus, part of the existing cement roof/floor will be removed to create the new elevator shaft.

Drilled caissons — which are similar to piles, except they're much quieter to place — are being installed below the Central Plant and Student Activities Center as the renovation in that area continues.

Work is also progressing on the Library/Learning Resource Center. Placement of steel to support the sculpture in the rotunda is complete and the spiral staircase was also scheduled to take place this week. With the structural work essentially completed, we'll begin to see the enclosure of the building this semester.

BRIEFLY

The college has purchased a campus site license for the plagiarism prevention online tool, Turnitin.com. Betty Disney will conduct a workshop on how to utilize the system on Friday, February 4, from 10 a.m. to noon, in SEM-116. To attend this presentation, participants must register by Tuesday, February 1, by calling ext. 47326 or sending an e-mail to staffdev@cypresscollege.edu. Please bring electronic copies of student papers to check for plagiarism.

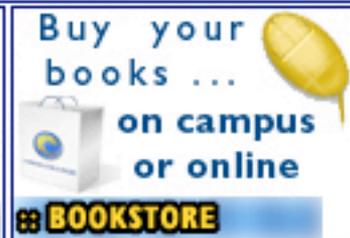

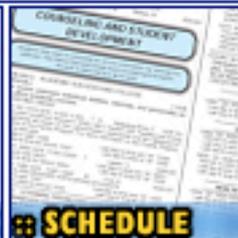

The deadline for submitting Requests for Conference Registration Funding is February 7, by 4 p.m., in the Staff Development Office. Completed applications are to be sent as an electronic attachment in an email to staffdev@cypresscollege.edu. An additional copy of the completed request form with all the appropriate original signatures is also to be submitted to the Staff Development Office. For questions or concerns, call Nancy Deutsch at ext. 47326.

The Transfer Center will be holding its annual Transfer Fair on Thursday, February 10, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., in front of Admissions and Records.
