Oscars are Over, But Awards Season in Full Force at Cypress College

> Within the last few weeks, a number of awards and recognitions have gone to members of the campus community.

Cypress College’s Men’s Baseball Team was selected last week by the state Commission on Athletics as a Scholar Team Recipient — a special award that emphasizes academic achievement of all of the members of one specific team. It is one of a series of prestigious honors that have been earned at the college in recent weeks.

In addition to baseball, Culinary Arts, the Flying Team, the T-TEN Program, Dental Hygiene, The Dance Ensemble, Teacher Prep and the M&O Building have all garnered recent recognition.

Baseball Team

The baseball team will be recognized at the Celebration of Student Athletes Awards Luncheon at the Commission on Athletics Convention on April 5.

“Coach Scott Pickler puts a tremendous emphasis on his student-athletes’ academic progress, and that focus has clearly paid off, not only in this very special recognition, but also in the positive effect it has on the students’ lives and their futures,” Dr. Lewis said.

Culinary Arts

Culinary Arts received the County of Orange Award of Excellence from the Environmental Health Division for attaining the highest sanitation and food safety levels in the culinary kitchen, storage, refrigeration, service line, dining, and other areas in two consecutive Environmental Health Division (Health Department) evaluations.

“Michael Bird, Lisa Clark and Tracey Heine have worked very hard to achieve this rating and are definitely to be congratulated,” Dean Steve Donley said.

Cypress College Flying Team

On February 16-18, 2007, the Cypress College Flying Team competed at the regional Safety and Flight Evaluation Conference sponsored by the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Flying Association at Brackett Airport in La Verne.

Competing against schools such as Cal Tech, Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University, Mt. San Antonio College, San Diego Christian College, San Jose State and the Air Force Academy, Cypress College

Americana Nets Approximately $120,000

The Foundation is still finalizing the totals, but the preliminary numbers from Saturday night’s 2007 Americana Awards appear to make this the second-best event in Americana history.

There were about 600 people, and the net proceeds will be $120,000, perhaps a bit more. These wonderful results come a year after the most successful Americana Awards, and the Foundation is very gratified to have followed the 2006 event with another tremendous success this year.

took two of the top ten awards: Jesse Kumbera received the Top Woman Pilot Safety Award and the Outstanding Team Member award. She also finished sixth in the “Taxi” category. Brad Sprayberry placed tenth in the “Message Drop,” “Simulator,” “Preflight” and “Computer Accuracy” categories while Isaac Beteta finished sixth in the “Message Drop” and fifth in the “Taxi” competitions.

Toyota T-TEN Program

For the second year in a row, the Cypress College Toyota automotive technician training program has been selected as one of only 10 recipients of the national T-TEN School Recognition Award.

The award recognizes the highest performing schools across the country based on placements at dealerships, the maintenance of instructor and program certifications, and compliance with Toyota training requirements.

Dental Hygiene Program

The college’s Dental Hygiene Program was honored in an American Medical Association Newsletter, with 14,000 readers. Commonly known by its initials, the AMA produces a monthly publication called “Health Professions” which contains a feature that profiles an educational program. The electronic newsletter is available online. Cypress College is highlighted in the February, 2007 edition, which can be viewed by clicking here.

Dance Ensemble

The Cypress College Dance Ensemble under the direction of Erin Landry, Holly Lampe and Marie Hoffman was selected to perform in the 2007 Southwest Regional American College Dance Festival Gala Performance held at San Francisco State University.

Cypress College performed one of 11 pieces selected for the Gala out of more than 150 adjudicated dances. The selection was based on outstanding performance, choreography, costume and lighting design. The other schools selected were UCI, UCLA, UC Berkley, San Francisco State, Cal State Fullerton, San Jose State and Richard Stockton College of New Jersey.

Cypress College and Riverside Community College were the only two-year programs honored in this special Gala performance. There were 39 universities and colleges present at the Festival.

Multicultural Events Planned for Coming Weeks; Women’s Day of Expression is First, on March 13

The Diversity Committee is pleased to share information about these upcoming Spring 2007 Multicultural Events planned for Cypress College:

- March 13, 3-5 p.m. (Theater Lobby) — Women’s Day of Expression, coordinated by Regina Rhymes, faculty in Sociology (see additional information below)
- April 16, 2:00-3:30 (H-131) — Dr. Terrence Roberts, “Lessons Learned from the Little Rock 9,” coordinated by Virgil Adams, faculty in Human Services, and Doreen Villasenor, EOP&S counselor
- April 25, 11:00-2:00 — World Fest celebration of cultures from around the world, coordinated by the Associated Students Please mark your calendars and plan to attend these outstanding events. Also, please encourage students to attend.

The complete Cypress College Multicultural Calendar of Events 2006-07 is in the “@Cypress Extras” section.

Additional diversity-related events are also hosted at Fullerton College and are open for participation by members of the Cypress College community.

Information is available at: http://cadena.fullcoll.edu/diversity.htm.

Women’s Day of Expression

The Day of Expression to celebrate Women’s History Month will be held in the Theater Lobby on Tuesday, March 13, from 3-5 p.m.

Everyone who would like to honor women is invited to join in on this celebration. As tradition holds it, the event is used as a venue for members of the campus community — teachers, staff, administrators and students — to offer up whatever “odes” they might like — a poem, a song, a dance, a set of photographs, etc — whatever they’d like to share in homage to women.

Tables will also be available should anyone like to display anything. Everyone is encouraged to attend. Donations of food are always welcome. Contact Mary Forman for more info at x47156.

Please set the date aside and make announcements to your students.

The work selected was choreographed by Erin Landry with costumes by Jeanine Eastham and lighting design by Nina Mezzetta, performed by Cheri Avalos, Alex Alvillar, Marnita Billups, Brittany Coins, Aubrey Dunham, Kari Lynne McKillip, Catherine Prince and Chris Smith. The greatest honor for our students is that they were the final dance to close the Festival.

Teacher Preparation Program

The Cypress College Teacher Preparation Program, which is managed by Dennis Davino, has been awarded a $160,000 grant to develop special programs for students who are interested in becoming teachers of vocational-track careers.

Maintenance and Operations Building

At the end of last semester, the architects who designed the Cypress College Maintenance and Operations Building were recognized by the North Orange County Community College District Board of Trustees.

The architects, from the firm LPA, were recognized by the Board for their work on the M&O Building, which earned an Award of Merit in the American Institute of Architects Orange County Awards Program.

For nearly a half-million students, Cypress College has been a springboard to their dreams. Come to Cypress College and Go Places!

“Once on this Island”
Directed by Jim Hormel with choreography by Erin Landry.
Rich in Caribbean rhythms, the show is a twist on the traditional “Little Mermaid” tale, and tells the story of Ti Moune, a poor peasant girl who falls in love with Daniel, an upper class boy whose life she saves after a car crash. Central to the story are four gods that the peasants believe rule their lives. Book & Lyrics by:
Lynn Ahrens. Music by: Stephen Flaherty and based on the novel
My Love, My Love by Rosa Guy.

Check in: 5:30 PM  Dinner: 6:00 PM  Show: 8:00 PM

College is Great! ... But, you don’t want to be here forever, right?

Enroll in a “Half-Semester” class — beginning the week of March 19 — and earn full credit by the end of the semester. “Half-Semester” classes are a great way to get back up to full-time status (read: Financial Aid and EOPS eligibility and insurance).

Click on to CypressCollege.edu and sign up today for that class you’ve been meaning to take or the one you’ve been unable to get into.
Mid-Winter Quiet

This just about the time of year that I realize that my New Year’s resolutions are falling by the wayside like pots and pans off a Conestoga wagon on a steep climb in the Colorado Rockies. Lost weight? Lost six pounds, gained back three. Curtail the use of impolite invective while repairing the plumbing under the kitchen sink where knuckles are nicked, eyes are targets for rusted, dripping water and I can’t breath in the fetid dark? None. But I suggested my wife leave the room until the repair was over. Some progress there. Promise to work out at least three times a week. One time in three weeks. Not good but better. Ski at Mammoth? That’s a hundred percent. So on balance, thanks to a little snow this year, I’m ahead of my usual disappointment with myself. What’s in store for Marilyn and me? More skiing, repairing our son Curt’s condo in Santa Monica and planning a cruise or heading east to visit Craig and his wife Denise in Pittsburgh or both.

Excuse the lack of complete sentence structure above, but it is Mid-Winter. Nothing ever seems to get completed.

Whose Doin’ What

Somehow Mary Hutain’s story missed the last issue. Sorry, Mary

She says that “We moved to Temecula right after I retired in 1991 and have really seen the town grow into a city. We thought we were moving to the country, but I guess a lot of other people had the same idea.”

Mary in Ireland

She has done her share of traveling to Europe and has been on several cruises. Last spring she joined a tour of Ireland, “had a great time, loved the country and even kissed the Blarney Stone.”
Donna Riedel, Executive Secretary to the President at Cypress, and her husband Fred have been traveling the USA in their RV since she retired from Cypress in 1999.” They’ve been traveling the country and enjoying it. She says, they “have seen a great deal and know [they] have only scratched the surface.” They are currently at a private RV resort in Texas just west of Houston.

After arriving at the resort in October of 2006, Donna has been doing volunteer work there. Her willingness to help turned into a position of Director of Recreation.

She’s “having a great time scheduling and coordinating activities such as health fitness classes, dinners, games, entertainment, craft classes for adults and children, tours to local attractions and performances, writing articles for the club magazine, and assisting the resort manager during his weekly members meeting.”

May 1st the will head to Ohio to see their son, daughter-in-law, and four grandchildren. “We haven't decided what part of the country we will head toward after our visit in Ohio, but know that we will be somewhere in the Sunbelt by next winter.”

Gail Kolsky is in the process of moving to Sedona from Palm Desert. She has a granddaughter whose parents have been begging her to move near them since Gail lived there for three months when her granddaughter was born in July.

Gail, a former counselor and teacher in the social sciences, has already being asked to lead a group and take on clients though she is not even there permanently yet.” She “is looking forward to no longer going back and forth every 3-4 weeks.”

Donna Axline sent brief note that she has been so busy moving about that she hasn’t time to report in, but she “will give us an ear full of happenings when our feet land for a few day.”
Larry Mercadante has been Dean of Exercise Science and Athletic Director for the past 16 months at Santiago Canyon College in Orange. “Working is his idea of retirement,” according to Lisa Hermen (Athletics – Eligibility) of Santiago Canyon College.

Barbara Marrs is still busy with the triplets. She sent along a picture. “They are bright-eyed and happy.”

Paul Ricci starts with his usual greeting: ¡Hola! Amigo. But by now he, his wife and two grandchildren should be in Costa del Sol along the southern coast of Spain.

Other than that, he says it is the “same old thing; debating (and bating) Mr. Showley on politics, science and religion, via the internet, along with interesting discussion with a couple of retired Beach City College, and a few others as well. This occupies much of my time leaving little time for reading books, serious writing or lecturing. I am so far behind on all the projects I had set up for myself when I retired that maybe I ought to give up something that still uses up a share of my time. Sell my t.v. perhaps? (How did I ever find time to teach?)”

He has “piles of magazines, journals and books that are just waiting to be read. Setting priorities is a major problem for me but traveling is still high on the list. I intend to travel as much as possible as long as I can. Perhaps northern Italy in the fall? Costa Rica next winter? When are we going to Hawaii again?”

D. Showley says, “Hi, those who wish to write me, my address is: dlshowley@[contact PIO]

The Showley’s Brittany, their 14-year-old daughter is in both sophomore geometry and biology. She is a freshman at the Hebrew Academy.

Paul Ricci, he, and six others are in a Friday Luncheon group in Los Al from 1:00 - 3:00. The topics of discussion are philosophy, atheism & religions, cosmology, biology, and physics.

Sounds very high-powered to me.
Health Science Friends gathered at Mal and Kay Bruce's home on January 15 for “lots of chatter, a nice luncheon, and lots of sharing of stories.” Those attending were Retirees Evelyn Maddox, Bonna Campellone, Rose Ann Florentine, Linda Wettemarshausen, Diane Olson, Almira Ida, Annie Morris, Kay and Mal Bruce, Barbara Bussey, and still working Dean Andrea Hannon.

Marilyn and I spent an evening with Kay and Mal with our mutual friends, the Hinmans. They went to school with Kay in Montana. That state, Kay informs me, is “just a little north of Texas.” Can you identify them? Bet you can. Kay’s collection:

Sandy McLeod writes that “aside from the emails we exchange I’ve been traveling as usual. In the past several months we’ve been to Hawaii, Northern Ireland, Cabo San Lucas, Laredo TX, and twice to Whistler. At least once more to Whistler, and then to Washington DC and Zihuatanejo. Maybe to Qingdao China, which is the sailing venue for the summer Olympics.

“I'm still trying to play the guitar. Travis picking is really difficult on a classical (given the shape my hands are in) but it is not as hard as Hawaiian slack key, which I dearly love. My various ukes are still getting played as are my harmonicas, but the harps bother both wife and cats more than my stringed instruments atrocities so they are spared them somewhat. (Except I take harmonicas when we ski. . . . )

“Viet Tide still prints my essays every two weeks. I love to research my topics and to write to my Vietnamese audience, and beyond. (Distribution is worldwide in the sense that it goes wherever Vietnamese are.) Students teachers are still receiving my professional ministrations. I taught at the Art Institute last fall but National is going more and more to online teaching. Dunno if I will get involved, even though they promise me a class every month.

“Our Grand Banks 32 is tugging at its dock lines and looking sullenly at me as I close her up after running a systems check. And in a desperate and undoubtedly futile attempt to be better than I ever was, I spend a couple of hours a day busting my behind in the gym.”

Given that everyone is doing so much, I thought I’d include a piece of doggerel I wrote a few years ago for a publication:

Retirement

Retirement ‘tis a funny thing. Makes you dance, makes you sing. Makes you understand life’s gist ‘Til one of you makes a list. Then retirement’s not so fun, And by the time that day is done, You wonder if by curious quirk You’ve been transported back to work.

PAO

On a serious note, Susie Simmons sent a very heartfelt and beautifully written letter about the passing of Angelo Macalello, the husband of Angie Macalello, Susie’s “dear friend.” Angelo died on January 19. He would have been 75 on February 26 of this year.
As most of you know, Angie worked in Admissions and Records from 1975-2000. Susie pays a beautiful tribute to her friend and her dear friend’s husband. It need not be trimmed in black, as the tribute is a story of life and love.

“Their love affair reads like a storybook; they fell in love with each other when they were only kids, Angelo arriving in America from Italy as a young boy and moving next door to Angie; he was six years older and watched her grow into a beautiful woman and he knew that she was the girl for him. He adored her and she adored him and their love and commitment to each other proved endless.

“Ang had beautiful blue eyes and a smile that made you wish you were Italian too and a laugh that was warm and genuine. He was diagnosed with diabetes as a young man in his thirties and every doctor he saw was amazed at his longevity and attitude for battling the disease for over 40 years. If you asked him how he was, he would always say, in his wonderful voice that sounded like Tony Bennet: ‘fantastic.’ And he meant it. He made you feel good just to hear him say that.

“Cruises were their thing and they cruised everywhere in the world – sometimes two or three times to the same spot, but it was the love of travel that they both shared and the luxury of the cruise ships made it traveling so easy. Several of us went to China two years ago, and we were lucky that Angie was able to talk Angelo into going because he didn’t like to fly, but he told her that if she wanted to go then they would go. So we all went and had what I would call a memorable trip, one of those that now I call “crazy, fast and fun”. Angie and Ang held hands walking through Beijing and Shanghai and I will always remember that.

“Everyone has his or her love story, I know, but this one is different. Angelo Macalello was the nicest man I have ever known and was in love with his wife and told her so every day. There were many at the funeral and the eulogies were perfect for this kind man.
“Don Tyrrell, Vianna Young and Therese Mosqueda-Ponce were among so many others, who paid their respect to Angie and this reinforces the best that the years at Cypress College nurtured for so many of us.”
